divine [id] a new agency?

Com&Co is announcing the reorganization of its business structure.

The event management agency from Marseilles, specialized in congress organization since 2003, Com&Co is dividing its activities for a better satisfaction of its clients' needs and expectations. The new emerging structure, divine [id], led by Vérane Bergeron Moreau, is not only following the path of the cardiovascular arena but also heading for new areas of interest.

7 years after having created and managed Com&Co with Lionel Vaillat, Vérane Bergeron Moreau, resolutely forward-looking, commits to keeping its clientele as well as building up a new one and names over her agency divine [id]. The company will be setting up in the heart of the phocean city, 17 rue Venture, with the same expert and dynamic team. Open-mindedness, availability and transparency are the values of this agency, that may be new but not that young.

A new year, a new start!
